The data agreement, safety copies and downloading everything

The club's paperwork with FoxFace, and how to get the club's records back if something goes wrong.

Where

Members admin → Data.

Safety copies

The site keeps a copy of the club's records before they change, at most once an hour, the last 30 kept.

The data agreement

1. Accept it once

   Press Read the agreement, then Accept on behalf of the club. The site records who accepted it and when. What members are told shows the privacy notice members see.

1 Read the agreement, 2 Accept on behalf of the club.

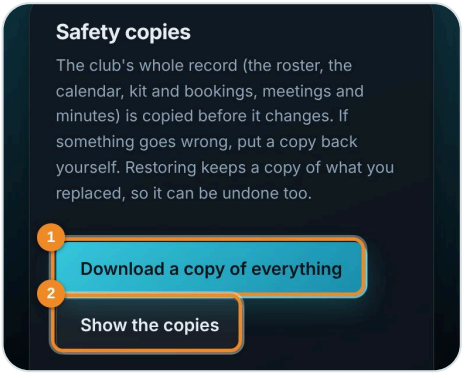

Safety copies

1. Download or put back

   Download a copy of everything saves the club's records to your computer (in the phone app it goes to the share sheet). Show the copies lists the safety copies; press Put this back on one to return the club's records to that time. Putting one back keeps a copy of what you replaced, so it can be undone.

2. Export

   Further down, Download JSON under Export gives the roster, calendar, bookings, kit register and every request as one file. Access codes are never included.

1 Download a copy of everything, 2 Show the copies.

What isn't in the download

Documents people have attached are separate files. Download those from where they're attached (Files on the item, boat or notice).

FoxFace Diving how-to guides, guide C10. Pictures are from Kelpline Divers, a made-up club; your club's site shows your own names and kit. Made by FoxFace. Version 2, October 2026.