Signing in

How to get into your club's site with your name and your own code, stay signed in on your phone, and sign out on a shared computer.

What you need

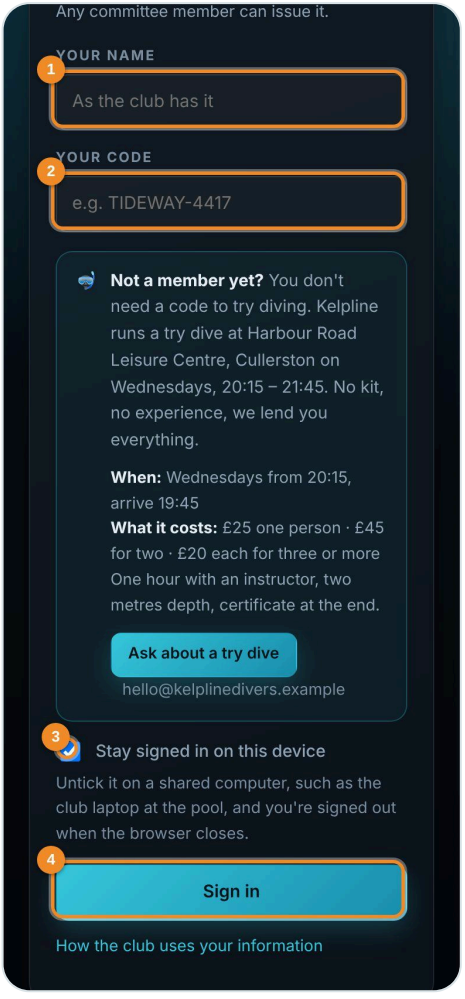

The name the club has you down as, and the personal code a committee member gave you. It looks like TIDEWAY-4417.

Where

Your club's own address, for example clubs.foxface.io/yourclub. It works on a phone, a tablet or a computer, and in the FoxFace Diving app.

Signing in

1. Open your club's site
   The first screen has a box called Sign in to see the club.
2. Type your name and code
   Your name as the club has it. Capitals and spaces don't matter: "danny okafor" is fine. Your code exactly as you were given it. It doesn't matter if you type the dash or not.
3. Leave "Stay signed in" ticked on your own phone
   Ticked, the site remembers you on this phone or computer, so you only do this once. On a shared computer, such as the club laptop at the pool, untick it. You are then signed out as soon as the browser is closed.
4. Press Sign in
   You land on your club's home screen with your name at the top. Everything you book from now on is in your name.

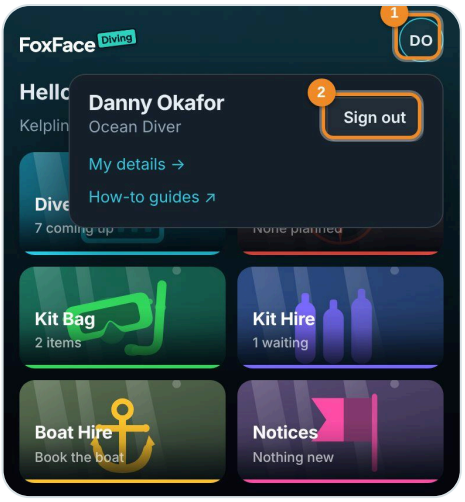

1 your name, 2 your code, 3 stay signed in, 4 Sign in.

Signing out

1. Tap your initials, top right
   On the home screen, tap the circle with your initials. A panel opens with your name and grade.

2. Press Sign out
   Always do this on a computer other people use. On the other pages, your name and Sign out are at the top of the page instead.

1 your initials, 2 Sign out.

"That name and code don't match"

Check the spelling of your name as the club has it, and type the code again. The code box is cleared each time, so it's easy to try again.

Lost or forgotten your code?

Ask any committee member. They can give you a new one from the site in a few seconds, and the old one stops working straight away.

"Too many wrong codes"

After several wrong tries the site waits a few minutes before it lets anyone try again. This stops people guessing codes. Wait, then try once more carefully.

Keep your code to yourself

Your code is how the club knows a booking is yours. Please don't share it, even with family: ask the committee to give each person their own.

FoxFace Diving how-to guides, guide M1. Pictures are from Kelpline Divers, a made-up club; your club's site shows your own names and kit. Made by FoxFace. Version 2, October 2026.