Finding your club

Every club on FoxFace Diving lives at clubs.foxface.io. If you don't know your club's address, type its name on the front door and the site takes you there.

Where

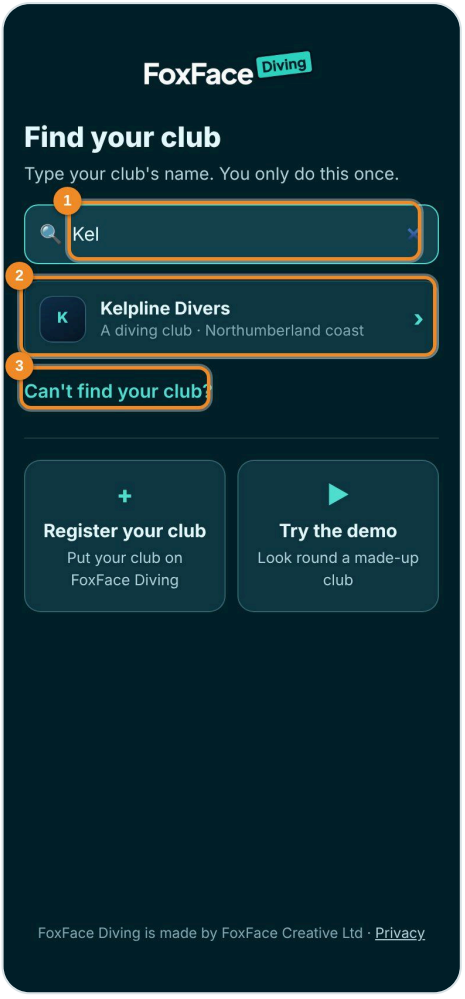

clubs.foxface.io on its own, or the first screen of the FoxFace Diving app.

Your club's own address clubs.foxface.io/yourclub. Bookmark it, or add it to your phone's home screen, and you won't need the front door again.

Find your club

1. Type the club's name
   Start typing and the matching clubs appear. Tap yours.
2. Sign in
   You arrive at your club's sign-in screen (guide M1).
3. Can't find it?
   Press Can't find your club? and tell us the club's name and where it is; we'll point you to the right address or let you know the club isn't on FoxFace Diving yet.

1 type the name, 2 your club, 3 can't find it.

Had an old address?

If your club moved from an older address of its own, the old one still works: it takes you to the new address at clubs.foxface.io and keeps you signed in.

Try the demo clubs.foxface.io/demo/ is a made-up club, Kelpline Divers, you can poke around in. Nothing you do there affects anyone (guide C11).

FoxFace Diving how-to guides, guide M16. Pictures are from Kelpline Divers, a made-up club; your club's site shows your own names and kit. Made by FoxFace. Version 2, October 2026.