Keeping a list of your own kit

Your own regulator, drysuit, computer and so on, with when each needs its next service and what's been done to it. Only you can see this list.

Where

Kit Bag → My kit.

Private

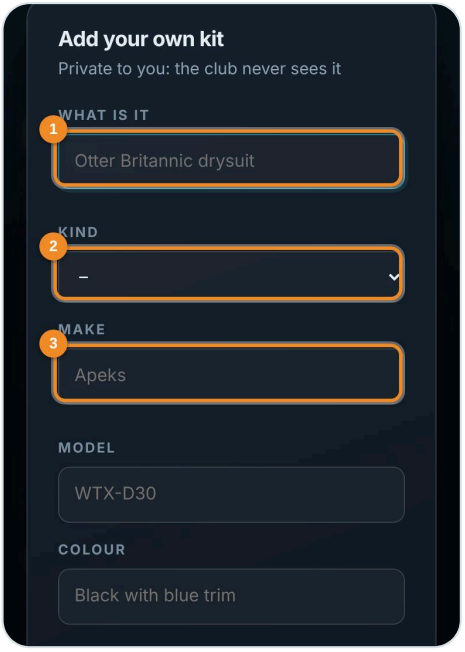

Nobody else sees your list: not other members, not the committee. It follows your sign-in, so it's the same on your phone and your computer.

Adding something

1. Press Add something
   On Kit Bag → My kit, press Add something.

2. Describe it
   Say what it is and pick the kind, then add the make, model, colour and size so you can tell it apart. Put the date of its next service or test and what it needs (for example "Annual service" or "Neck and wrist seals"). You can add past services too, so its history is all in one place. Press Add it.

3. It's on your list
   Each item shows what it is and when it's next due. Anything due within two months is flagged at the top of the page.

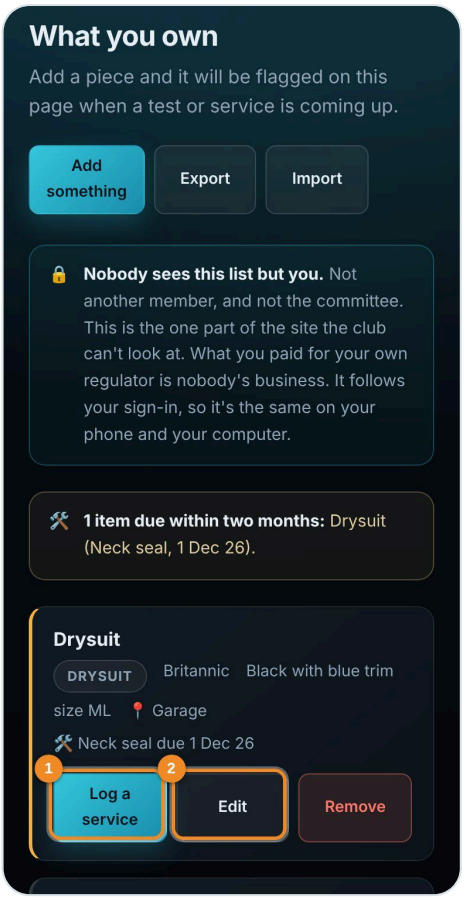

1 what it is, 2 kind, 3 make. Further down: the next service or test, and Add it.

Recording a service

1. Press Log a service
   On the item, press Log a service. Say when it was done, what was done, who did it and what it cost. Put the next one due and what it needs, then press Save it. Older services go into the item's History.

2. Edit or remove
   Edit changes the details. Remove takes it off your list.

1 Log a service, 2 Edit.

Moving to a new phone?

Your list follows your sign-in, so it's already there. Export and Import are for copying a list between two different accounts, or keeping a copy somewhere safe.

Kit that belongs to your children

When you add something, you can say whose it is: anyone under People you keep kit for on My details (guide M7).

FoxFace Diving how-to guides, guide M6. Pictures are from Kelpline Divers, a made-up club; your club's site shows your own names and kit. Made by FoxFace. Version 2, October 2026.